St. George's College and St. George's Preparatory School

St. George's College Quilmes was founded in 1898 by the Rev. Canon J. T. Stevenson, C. B. E., to provide a thorough education on the principles so well established in the English Public Schools. The College stands on high ground overlooking the River Plate from which it is distant a mile and a quarter. The grounds are extensive and today cover 22 ½ hectares, providing ample playing fields and accommodation for 400 boys.

The buildings are divided into three groups: the Preparatory School; the Junior School; the College.

1. The Preparatory School, completed in 1929 to house boys between the ages of 8 and 12, today has accommodation for 100 boys.
2. The Junior School, for boys between 11 and 14, completed in 1945, has accommodation for 120 boys.
3. The College, for boys between the ages of 13 and 19, who have passed their Primary Education examinations, has accommodation for 180 boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

The general principle of organization adopted is that all boys shall receive a uniform course of instruction up to the time that they pass their Sixth Grade Examination (Argentine Primary Course). As soon as this stage is over, the boys must choose one of two courses: the Argentine National College Secondary Course, or; a three year course up to the standard of the Cambridge University School Certificate, followed by two years of more specialised work depending on the boy's future career. Within this general plan, provision is made for those boys who wish to finish their Argentine Primary Course and at the same time wish to take the Common Entrance Examination of the English Public Schools.

RECREATIONS

Regular games are compulsory. During the summer cricket is played throughout the school; during the winter Rugby Football is played by the College and Junior School, and Association Football by the Preparatory School.

Athletic sports and swimming sports are held annually.

Boxing, shooting and gymnastics are taught by qualified instructors in the Gymnasium. Physical training forms parts of the regular routine teaching.

There are tennis courts, and the College has a bat fives court.

There are three libraries in the school, one at the College, one at the Junior School and one at the Preparatory School. They are supplied with a growing collection of books, and regular newspapers and magazines.
